Telluride Ski Resort Weather Synopsis

Good morning! Skies have cleared this morning as high pressure stretches from West Texas into northern Idaho. Beautiful weather is expected over the next few days, with high pressure in control and only weak systems later in the week bringing some occasional cloud cover. For now, we don't anticipate any precipitation for at least the next 7 to 8 days, if not longer. Temperatures will be a bit cool today but will rebound to seasonable levels tomorrow, continuing to gradually warm through the week. By Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, we'll enjoy a stretch of mild days. A slightly cooler pattern looks to develop next week, but temperatures should remain close to normal for mid-April. It's shaping up to be a gorgeous closing day—enjoy the sunshine, and we'll see you in the fall!
